A game is initiated with random generation of a sports team from the selected league(s) by a web service, which then returns an object of this type.

